#WANTED

Polarion Solution Architect
Implement innovative software solutions for our customers in the medical technology industry

YOUR ROLE IN OUR TEAM

Design: Based on the business processes and requirements of our customers, you design the digitalization framework based on Polarion and our avasis solution packages. In doing so, you always have the target solution in mind and always keep an eye on quality criteria.

Realize: Accompany the implementation for the customer in a leading role of the implementation team. That includes installation and configuration of Polarion and the avasis solution packages on Linux and Windows.

Consult & Support: Use your strong communication skills to advise our customers actively and decisively on a high technical level, supported by the expertise of our process consultants. Internally, you support our sales team with technical questions and are available for product presentations (demos), workshops or as an author of technical articles

YOUR PROFILE

- Completed engineering or information technology degree or comparable.
- Experience in configuring and working with Siemens Polarion (preferred) or other ALM tool
- Able to analyze and coordinate requirements from stakeholders and translate them into stable, cost-effective, and regulatory compliant solutions.
- Agile mindset with a high-quality awareness and experience with agile implementation methods and approaches.
- Bonus points: Programming skills in Java, JavaScript, HTML and CSS and/or knowledge about server setup and configuration in Linux and/or Windows environments.
- Advantage: Experience in the medical device industry.
- Strong communication skills, open to share your know-how with customers and colleagues.
- Willingness to travel internationally for onsite customer support if required for the project.
- Fluent in German and English to work in international projects.

JOIN THE AVASIS GROUP

Our mission: Reduce the effort required to create and maintain documentation with innovative software solutions and digitize processes sustainably.

Based on the established Siemens technology platform, we develop solutions for the medical technology industry and continuously evolve them together with our customers. Our goal: To drive digitalization and enable our customers to use their resources for development of innovative devices instead of wasting them on documentation. avasis is a modern employer and additionally offer:

- Start-up culture: Flat hierarchy, open & direct communication, fast and reliable team support
- Flexibility: Work where and when you want (in agreement with the team of course 😉)
- Team events: Meet your team and the avasis group in changing locations, fun guaranteed
- Learn & grow: Diversity of projects, customers and internal education programs
- Make an impact: Support & change one of the most innovative industries - medical technology!

INTERESTED? Join our dynamic team in a continuously growing company and work in one of the most innovative areas – Digitalization! We look forward to receiving your e-mail application! jobs@avasis.biz.

avasis